I like how this movie was a success in the late 90s, how it paved way for a new internet based video system, and also how it talks about how technological advancement leads to new inventions. I think this movie provides a good way to analyse the development of internet. The internet, as a concept, started in the early 1970s. The internet, as we know it today, started in the 1990s when...

First, the internet started as a large resource for a specific audience. More specifically, the early internet was created by the military for the purpose of communicating with its users. Once the internet became accessible to more users, it started to evolve into... The second phase of the internet as we know it today, is the 'personal computer'. The invention of the personal computer led to the internet becoming more accessible to the masses. The standard way of connecting to the internet is via a personal computer. Lastly, internet has progressed into... The 'new internet'. This is basically the internet, as we know it now. As the
